Instructions to configure LockBackground.html

Adjusting your weather location

To change the weather go to <http://edg3.co.uk/snippets/weather-location-codes/> and enter your location, then click on the "Search" tab. Next, copy the 8-character code (Example: ITXX0042 = Milan, Italy).

Open the LockBackground.html file and search for "var locale" then paste your weather code in the "ITXX0042". If you want to change the weather to Fahrenheit, search for "var isCelsius" and then change this to "false". Example: "var isCelsius = true" will display your temperature in Celsius.

Translating Description forecast

Open file LockBackground.html and search: "var LangTranslate = English" Replace "English" with your language. Please, note that this will only work with: English, Spanish, Italian, Francais.

Setting 24H to 12H or 12H to 24H

Rename the "LockBackground.html" to "LockBackground.html.bak".

Rename the "LockBackground 12h Clock.html" to "LockBackground.html".

Translating Days and Months

Open file LockBackground.html and search: "var this_weekday_name_array".

Replace the days of the week and the months with your language.

Setting your custom Image (on the right)

This image displays the Lockscreen image you have set. Go to Settings (ON YOUR DEVICE), then Wallpaper and just choose an image to be displayed on the Lockscreen (as you would normally do).

Respring and the image should show up!

Setting your custom wallpaper

Select your preferred wallpaper and rename it to "LockBackground.png".

Copy it to the main folder (delete or rename original wallpaper). Respring the device. enjoy :D

NOTE

When you load the widget for the first time, or respring/reboot, it might look weird (like the screen is really messed up). DON'T WORRY! Unlock and Lock back and wait a little bit and it should look fine!
